

NEW PERMANENT REG. LAW
EFFECTIVE FOR VOTERS

According to announcement of E. B. Hinman, county clerk, under the new registration, that went into effect January 1st, 1932, every person to be eligible to vote, at any municipal, primary, special or general election and that wishes to exercise their right of franchise, in the State of California, must see that they are duly registered by the county clerk, or one his deputies, in the county wherein they reside.

After the voters register this time it will not be necessary, under the present, so called, "Permanent Registration Law," for them to ever again register so long as they continue to reside at the same address and do not change their name by court order or by marriage or fail to vote at either the primary or general election held during any even numbered year. In case of change of name or address, the person to be eligible to vote, must re-register under the new name or from the new address. Also, when registration has been cancelled for failure to vote, as above stated, to again be eligible to vote, the person must re-register.

To be eligible to vote a person must be:

1. Twenty-one years of age, on or before date of election.
2. A citizen of the United States, either native born or naturalized.
3. A resident of the State of California one year; of the county ninety days; of the election precinct forty days, and must also be registered forty days or more prior to date of any election, at which such person desires to vote.

Under the present law, registration will be continuous, but voters are urged to bear in mind that they must register as above stated and the responsibility of being so registered rests with the voter.

For the convenience of voters, however, Deputy Registration Clerks have been appointed by County Clerk E. B. Hinman, to handle this work, in every community throughout the county, with instructions to make a house to house canvass. Obviously this would be a hopeless task without the co-operation of the voters themselves and especially so this year, as we have so many elections and the requirement that everyone who wants to vote, will first have to be registered during the short time allotted, in order to be eligible to vote.

The last dates of registration for elections to be held during 1932 are as follows:

School Trustee Elections—February 13th.

City Elections (in this county)—March 2nd.

May Primary Election—March 24th.

August Primary Election—July 21st.

November General Election—September 29th.

To be assured that you will be eligible to vote at any or all of the above mentioned elections, call at your earliest convenience, at the county clerk's office in Redwood City, or see the deputy most convenient to you.

Do not delay. Register today. Help avoid confusion and a grand rush at the last hour.

There were 8015 saloons in New York City before prohibition.

1254 Students Are Due
At Opening Of Spring Term

Preliminary registration of approximately 120 freshmen who will enter Sequoia Union High School, with the opening of the spring semester Monday brings the enrollment to 1254 students, a new record, it was reported by Mrs. Petra B. Cooper, attendance secretary.

At the same time the appointment of five additional instructors, including three on a part-time basis, was announced by Principal A. C. Argo to take care of the increased number of students.

The high school enrollment is expected to exceed 1300 during the next semester through the registration of transfer students. The new appointments bring the total number of faculty members to 55, five of whom are employed part-time.

The new teachers are:

Miss Marian Dwight, a graduate of Stanford University, who will instruct commercial classes, mathematics and physical education.

Harvey C. Hall, a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and holder of a master of arts degree from Stanford University, instructor in English.

Miss Neva I. Charles, graduate of the University of California and formerly a teacher at Stanford Union High School, part-time instructor in history.

Mrs. Margaret Proctor, who studied at Stanford University following her graduation from Santa Barbara State College and who was formerly on the Palo Alto Union High School faculty, part-time teacher of home economics.

Mrs. Carolyn G. Lovelace, a graduate of Stanford University, part-time instructor in French and English.

ANNUAL REPORT
OF C. C. SHOWS
GOOD HEADWAY

New Directors Chosen
At Dinner; Co. Plan
Adviser Speaks

In a year of abnormal business conditions generally throughout the world, Redwood City made good headway and suffered less through the evils of a lessened business volume and unemployment, comparatively speaking, than many other communities.

This was the essence of the annual report made by Howard I. Wood, manager of the Redwood City Chamber of Commerce, at the yearly dinner meeting in Hotel Sequoia. Copies of the report were sent to all members prior to Wednesday night's meeting.

It is fair to estimate, the report states, from gas, electric and water connections that Redwood City's population within the city limits is now in excess of 10,000, and there are 15,000 people in the city's normal trading area.

Co-operation Received

The report acknowledges the chamber's indebtedness to service clubs, schools, the woman's club, improvement clubs and other organizations for assistance given various chamber projects during 1931. Summaries of committee work were given, which included the following:

Streets and highways: Dave Walter, chairman; C. H. Holt, L. A. Heiner and C. L. Dimmitt.

Transportation: Merton Hughes, chairman; Henry Swanson, Paul A. McCarthy, William Hohn and Frank Schottler.

Trade promotion: Kendall Towne, chairman; Asa Hull, Leo Fuller, Harry Bourquin, Charles Nelson and Sam Winklebleck.

Amalgamation of territory: Carl Wagner, chairman; Edward M. Carroll, D. Hall, Gilbert Ferrell and Daniel R. Stafford.

Citizens' Harbor Development Committee: Carl Stoner, chairman; Howard I. Wood, secretary; D. R. Stafford, E. T. Harrison, Carl Wagner, E. B. Hinman, E. A. Rolison and C. L. Dimmitt.

Citizens' Committee on Parks and Recreation: Paul A. McCarthy, chairman; H. I. Wood, secretary; E. A. Rolison, Daniel Flynn, Edward McAuliffe, Dr. W. B. Langston, Clarence Doozee, Carl Stoner, Carroll D. Hall, L. W. Jenkins Jr., Z. T. Thorne, A. C. Argo, Mrs. A. S. Kelenborn, Mrs. F. M. Perkins, C. L. Dimmitt, Merton Hughes, Mrs. Woodie La Dieu, Henry Witte, Frank Thompson, John Gill, Roy Hoberger, Ruth Jaynes, A. S. Liguori, Frank Griffin, Harry Bourquin, George Hopkins and Mrs. E. L. Kilbourne.

Publicity: Carroll D. Hall, chairman; James D. Hedge, Sam Winklebleck, Thomas Kane, W. H. Moulthrop, K. Inouye and Howard I. Wood, secretary.

Redwood City to the Sea Highway Association: E. B. Hinman, chairman; James S. James, Dave Cosgrave, C. L. Dimmitt, Dave Walter and Howard Wood, treasurer.

Directors Elected

From the 12 names offered by the nominating committee, the members elected the following directors to serve for two years: W. D. Tyson, Sam Winklebleck, Dr. W. B. Langston; and the following for one year: Al Davies, C. F. Andrews and Dave Walter. The holdover directors are Edward Harrison, Carl Stoner and Zephro Thorne.

Henry Witte, who presided at the dinner, is the retiring president.

The financial statement showed total receipts of $6440.78 and disbursements of $6005.41, leaving cash on hand in the amount of $435.37.

Pomeroy Speaks

Hugh Pomeroy, adviser to the county planning commission, was the chief speaker. Lack of planning in the past is costing the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars today, in one way or another, he said. It adds to the cost of industries and home owners alike. He commended the commissioners of San Mateo county and County Engineer James S. James, and rejoiced in the fact that the citizenry was giving intelligent thought and assistance to the problems of the commission. Realty boards and municipal officials are also co-operating, he said.

The speaker compared the county to a page, and said that what we do today is written upon it for the future.

Entertainment Given

Led by Max Gelber, instructor of music at Sequoia high school, the following selected violin quartette was heard: Elbert Johnson, Victoria Parsons, Florence Rossetto and Effie Jean Lightbody. Vivian Spinoza was accompanist. The numbers were by Zamecnik.

Echoes Of Famous Paternity Case

When Constance May Gavin, Menlo Park, Calif., lost a suit for a "daughter's share" of the vast millions left by the late James Flood, son of the "bonanza king," Timothy Flood, grandnephew of James Claude Flood, continued in the belief that Mrs. Gavin's claim was just. To further her cause, he erected a glaring sign in front of his rural home, telling the world to "come in, look at the records, and see for yourself" that Mrs. Gavin was right. Above, Flood is shown retouching the sign, damaged by storms. Below is his daughter, Madgaen Flood, 11, with a book of family records.

COST OF INQUEST
RECORDS QUERIED

Two claims totaling $320 for stenographic services rendered to Dr. J. C. McGovern, public administrator and coroner, held up by the finance committee of the board of supervisors, Wednesday were referred to District Attorney Scott for an opinion.

The claims were those of Ellen Collard, Lomita Park stenographer, and cover the period from December 8 to December 29, 1931. A one-day charge of $80 was made for 10 inquests.

Supervisor John Poole, Redwood City, and Supervisor Thomas Hickey, South San Francisco, of the finance committee, ordered the claims referred to Scott, and they were turned over to him by County Clerk Elmore B. Hinman.

H. R. Fee Estate
Brings $16,000

Yesterday afternoon Judge Buck confirmed the sale of block 85, Main street, Redwood City, belonging to the Harry Fee estate, to Carl Beger, for $16,000.

The property was purchased by the deceased some years ago in open court for $3,800. It is a gone lying between Maple street and Middlefield Road on Main.

It was sold by the Bank of America, administrator of the estate of Harry Fee, deceased.

Mr. Beger was the only bidder for the choice holding. Mr. Beger intends to erect a substantial structure on the site.

This ruling was made by Superior Judge Franklin Swart in denying the order sought by Stack and Ryan to have the City of Burlingame issue them a building permit for a service station near the city library.

The location was deemed undesirable by the trustees, and a law was passed forbidding establishment of the oil depot.

PENINSULAN MAY GET HOLMES POST

Garret W. McEnerney, chief of counsel for the James L. Flood interests for the past three decades, and the attorney who directed the fight against Mrs. Constance May Gavin in her efforts to establish herself as Flood's daughter, is said to be among those considered for the vacancy on the bench of the United States Supreme Court.

McEnerney's name was contained in news dispatches from Washington, following resignation of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Another San Franciscan, Warren Olney Jr., and a Palo Alto, John L. McNab, were also mentioned.

Attorney McNab, nominated President Hoover in 1928 at the Kansas City convention; Mr. Olney is a former justice of the state supreme court, and Mr. McEnerney is recognized as a leader of the American bar.

Att. Hall C. Ross
Plans Trip Abroad

If nothing unforeseen occurs Hall C. Ross, the widely known attorney of Redwood City, will depart on his vacation next Thursday, to be absent until summer.

Mr. Ross plans to make a cruise of the Mediterranean and then tour Europe, visiting all the battle grounds of the late war and seeing all the capitals of the old world, including a trip to Rome. Mr. Ross will, no doubt, call upon Mussolini to secure his views on the debt cancellation.

Mr. Ross is a hard working lawyer, a student and a man of large affairs. He has richly earned his repute from his many tasks.

His numerous friends in San Mateo county wish him a pleasant journey on the continent and a safe return to his boyhood home on the peninsula.

Sequoia Union High School today received $43,178 as its apportionment of the special district taxes, and $62,934 of county taxes in the first installment of 1931-32 taxes.

These sums were apportioned by County Auditor Edward M. Stack. The figures were arrived at by Miss Pansy J. Abbott, county school superintendent, and are based on attendance and teacher units.

Sequoia anticipated an income of $69,312 from the county tax, and received $43,178. It will get the remainder in the second installment. The total budget for Sequoia will be $231,991.

Elementary schools in Redwood City were given $28,244, with $2040 additional for library purposes. This is the local share of the $204,132 apportioned to elementary schools from the first installment.

Other apportionments made by Stack from the first installment to local school funds, were as follows:

The sum of $12,500 as San Mateo county's share of widening the Colma-Daly City bottleneck for one mile from San Jose avenue south was approved by the board of supervisors Monday. District Attorney Edmund Scott was asked to draw up the resolution, which will be adopted at the afternoon session.

The sum requested by Joseph J. Phillips, right-of-way agent for the city and county of San Francisco, and the resolution by which it will be voted was ordered drawn on motion of Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey of South San Francisco. It will come out of the gas tax moneys.

Action Necessary Now

Phillips said immediate action by the San Mateo county board was necessary to save the $200,000 appropriated by the state toward the project. If the work is not immediately undertaken, Phillips said, this sum might be diverted into other channels, postponing the widening project indefinitely.

A like sum of $200,000 has been voted by San Francisco, Phillips said. The whole project will cost $700,000. The state has agreed to pave the 40 additional feet of pavement which the widening will make necessary.

132 Feet Width Adopted

The supervisors also adopted a resolution approving an ultimate width of 132 feet for this highway, which was recommended by the San Mateo County Planning Commission. The present project, however, will call for but 108 feet of highway.

The calling of an election for formation of the Salada Beach-Brighton Public Utility District was put over by the board until January 13 for further consideration following considerable protest to the plan.

M. O. Anderson and L. B. Belser spoke in favor of the district, but the plan was attacked on legal points by attorneys representing Eliza C. Herbert, Della Mohr, George and James Pappas and others.

The supervisors approved the annexation of additional land to the Half Moon Bay Lighting District.

Members of the county board of supervisors were summoned by the San Mateo County Grand Jury to appear before it at a session to be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, January 20, for quizzing concerning various matters concerning the county's welfare.

Road affairs are to take a prominent place among the matters to be discussed at that meeting, which will be held at the courthouse in Redwood City. The supervisors were notified of the summons at their continued afternoon session.

John W. Coleberd of South San Francisco and Ernest A. Wilson of San Mateo were named by the supervisors on the recommendation of the San Mateo County Bar Association to serve with Superior Judges George H. Buck and Franklin D. Swart and Chairman Manual Francis of the supervisors as members of the new board of trustees of the county law library.

Steps to remove the San Joaquin-to-the-sea highway project were approved this afternoon by the board, and a resolution ordered drawn to be sent to the California State Chamber of Commerce. This move was taken on the recommendation of the San Mateo County Planning Commission.

JUDGE COMMENTS ON LATE FINKLER CASE

The last will and testament of the late Henry C. Finkler, deceased, was up for admission for probate in the superior court yesterday and for the settlement of the findings in the will contest suit, tried some time ago.

S. M. Knight appeared for the contesting heirs and Ross and Ross for the executors of the will. Both sides argued at some length.

Referring to the late trial Judge Buck made the following comment:

"Perhaps the jury acted wisely upon the evidence presented to them but it is certainly amusing to the court to sit here and listen to the evidence. Now, for instance, one of the strong points presented to the jury was the fact that Mr. Finkler said that he could stop the flow of water through the pipes to San Francisco by just turning a stop cock in the pipe up here on his ranch. Well, that is virtually true. It is a matter of public knowledge—it was written up in the newspapers, it is common knowledge—that there is a stop-cock on the Finkler ranch and it was placed there for the purpose of stopping the water running into San Francisco and turning it into Crystal Springs Lake. That was not brought out to the jury.

"Now, just look at that little incident of the onions. It was the most whimsical matter that could be brought into a court of justice. I think a man of average intelligence would understand that one of the gardeners of ours was passing through the street with his cart full of vegetables and a bunch of onions fell upon the street. Well, if I had been in Mr. Finkler's place I certainly should have picked them up because I like onions. And yet that was impressed upon the jury as a fact and there is nothing to it."

PENINSULAN HELD AFTER S. F. ROBBERY

San Mateo Mechanic
And Chinaman Shot
In Gun Duel

William A. Peters, 30, former San Mateo automobile mechanic, is being held by San Francisco police for the holdup of Tom Jim's Chinese laundry at 812 Sutter street, San Francisco, last night.

Peters and Tom Jim were both wounded in the gun fight which ensued when the former ran from the place with $20 from the laundry cash box. The San Matean then fled to San Bruno, where he called at the home of Virginia Morse, 527 Linden street, police say.

She took him to the Mills Memorial Hospital, San Mateo, where he was treated for a wound in the left forearm, and a superficial wound in the abdomen. Later San Francisco police called to question him and Peters is said to have admitted the holdup. He told police that he was out of work and up against it.

Peters said he returned the money to the Chinese after he had made a "lot of noise," and as he did so, the Chinese shot him with a .45 caliber gun. The Chinese in turn was shot in the leg by Peters. He left the gun at the Morse home, he said.

EX-OFFICIAL OF BURLINGAME DEAD BY HIS OWN HAND

BURLINGAME. — Albert A. Meyer, 54, real estate broker of Burlingame, took his own life Wednesday by inhaling the carbon monoxide fumes of his automobile.

He seated himself in the car in his garage, turned on the motor, and read a magazine until the fumes had rendered him unconscious. He was found dead a few hours later by his wife, Mrs. Agnes Meyer. The Meyer home is at 2 Park road, Burlingame.

Business conditions were believed the cause of his desire to die. He was one of the peninsula's first realtors and from 1910 to 1914 was a city councilman, and from 1914 to 1924 was city recorder.

Mr. Meyer was a Mason and a member of various civic organizations.

He leaves his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Grace Meyer, and three sons, Adolph, Albert and Fred, all of this city.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON MERGER REPORT

SAN MATEO — The San Mateo Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday afternoon did not take any action on approval or rejection of the "findings" of the San Francisco-San Mateo County Consolidation Committee.

Joe Rice, 30, clerk, was given a 10-day term when he appeared before Justice Ellis Johnson, Daly City, on a charge of vagrancy, and Claude Williams, 32, laborer, drew a 15-day term on the same charge in Police Judge Louis Kinney's court in San Mateo Tuesday.

SAVING SHOWN IN YEAR FOR WATER DEP'T

Two New Wells Put In Operation During

During the past year ending December 31, 1931, a total of 301,620,450 gallons of water was pumped from local wells and 16,582,300 gallons were purchased from the San Francisco Water Department making a total supply of 318,202,750 gallons.

This is to be compared with 220,958,600 gallons pumped and 63,147,050 gallons purchased for the year 1930 or a total of 284,105,650 gallons, according to figures of City Engineer C. L. Dimmitt, which were made public by City Manager E. A. Rolison.

Attention is called to the fact that while the supply for 1931 was an increase of 24,097,100 gallons over 1930 that the total operating expense properly chargeable to the source of supply for the former period was only $22,813.46, whereas in 1930 the total operating expense was the sum of $33,155.73. This difference in operating costs was brought about by the development of two new wells early in 1931 at a total cost of approximately $16,000.

The total saving actually created by the above investment, however, taking into consideration increased consumption for the last annual period, was the sum of $17,124.70 or a return in excess of 100 per cent. These figures have been based on the difference between the cost of pumping and what the same amount of water supplied by the new wells would have cost if purchased from the San Francisco Water Department at prevailing rates and under the exact conditions that would have existed in 1931 had this investment not been made and the supply from wells increased.

The world's fastest growing plant is said to be a fungus native to Hawaii. It increases in size so rapidly that its growth can be observed with the human eye.

Eagles, Sons Win Over S. F. Basket Quintets

Redwood City Eagles chalked up an even 50 points in a free-scoring basketball game with the Matson Navigators of San Francisco Wednesday night in the high school gymnasium to win by a final score of 50 to 31, and the Redwood City Native Sons breezed through the visiting Komrades of San Francisco to the tune of 35 to 11 in the preliminary game.

With Tom Shine bearing the brunt of the defense work, Johnny Weir, Clyde Lutje and Toby McLachlan cruised through the Navigators on an offensive tour that netted 41 points among the three Eagles. Weir was high with 13, followed by Lutje with 12 and McLachlan with 11.

Victory Offsets Monday's Loss
The Navigators came to Redwood City with a record of having defeated the Petaluma Eagles by a score of 39 to 12 at Petaluma, so last night's decisive victory helped in some measure to wipe out the 28-23 defeat handed the Eagles Monday night by the Petaluma.

Despite the absence of Capt. Jordan, regular center, and Ed Cullen, forward, the Eagles clicked smoothly last night and converted most of their chances into points. Weir ran wild in the first half, chalking up most of his seven field goals during that period, and McLachlan also had his eye during the first half, accounting for four long shots and three free throws.

Natives Win in Breeze
The Komrades, substituting for the San Francisco Boys Club 145s, were no match for the Native Sons. It was Al Hall's turn to hit the basket, and he came through with five field goals to help the Sons run up a count of 23 to 2 at the half.

All of the Natives have had scoring sprees during the season, with Sid Hinman and Capt. Rayner having turned the trick recently and Jimmy McKay and "Frenchy" Campagne doing the heavy work earlier in the season. Paul Bartolomei and Cloris Stewart gave the Sons ample reserve strength at the forward positions, Stewart in particular averaging four to six points every time he sees action.

Army Here Next Week
Next week the Eagles will play the West Coast Army quintet of San Francisco Wednesday night at Redwood City, with the Native Sons again playing the preliminary. The Eagles are scheduled to open the Peninsula Basketball League a week from tonight at Burlingame.

DOUBLE-HEADER BILLED FOR PANTHER GYMNASIUM; CHEROKEES CONFIDENT

By EL THOMAS
Sequoia and Burlingame high school basketball teams hold the spotlight at Burlingame tonight in the opening round of the Peninsula Athletic League cage season, which also finds Palo Alto playing at South San Francisco and San Jose at San Mateo.

Burlingame wound up the preliminary season Tuesday by dividing honors in a doubleheader affair with Mission high school of San Francisco. The Panthers were nosed out in the unlimited game, 24 to 23, but their 130-pound quintet won a see-saw battle with the mission lightweight, 17 to 12.

"Scotty" Gordon, guard, is the leading performer for the Burlingame varsity. Gordon scored 10 points against Mission. DeMastris, forward, is another reason for a possible Burlingame victory over the Cherokee varsity tomorrow night. DeMastris chalked up 11 of the 15 points Burlingame scored against Watsonville Saturday night.

Coach Frank Griffin today refused to predict an outcome for the varsity contest, as did Coach Ray Dimick for the lightweight game. "Griff," whose varsity quintet will be without the services of Jimmy McGuire, temporarily ineligible, says that his players have adopted a cocky attitude this week for the first time during the season and that they may pay the way for their own downfall.

Sequoia Has Strong Team
At their best, the Cherokees have a well-balanced team built around Capt. Jens Bugge at the key guard position, and Leo LeRoy, pivot man on offense and defense. Art Blasdel and Bill Lewis will be the starting forwards, with Ed Matheson completing the lineup at the other guard position. Elbert Garcia is the chief substitute for the front line, capable of replacing either Lewis or LeRoy if necessary. Ed Abbott leads the prospective reserve guards.

In the unlimited division, Sequoia takes its place as a dark horse just as it did in football this fall. Burlingame rates strongly, with Palo Alto probably the team to beat and likely to win handily from South San Francisco. San Mateo and San Jose are yet to be heard from, although San Mateo defeated Balboa high school Saturday night. Sequoia won one and lost one with Balboa.

San Mateo, Palo Alto 190s Lead
In the 130-pound division, San Mateo is slightly out in front with San Jose a dangerous contender. Palo Alto's heavy scoring 190s are expected to start off a good season by defeating South San Francisco, while Sequoia and Burlingame are a toss-up.

Coach Dimick will probably use Howland and Shine at guard on his 190s, with "Frenchy" Pommes at center and Baxter and Dower likely starting forwards. Metz, Promme and Cheney will carry the fight for Burlingame's lightweight in the absence of Bill Russell and Goldburg, two stars who are out of the opening game because of scholastic difficulties last semester.

Sportsmen Make Clubhouse Rules

Rules for the use of the clubhouse of the Redwood City Sportsmen's Club on Redwood Harbor were ratified at a special meeting at the clubhouse Wednesday. President George E. Zehender announced that all members and their guests will be required to sign a register at the clubhouse each day that they visit the premises.

Members of the house committee temporarily named are Bert L. Werder, chairman; A. S. Liguori, William J. Graef, Arnold J. Hanscom and A. J. Dempsey. Plans for the sportsmen's motion picture program scheduled for the Sequoia high school auditorium next Tuesday evening were to be completed today, Chairman Graef announced.

Veteran pilots of the Imperial Airways, Britain's premier air line, which has been operating 12 years, have not more than 6600 hours to their credit. The nine ranking pilots of the United States have an average of more than 8600 hours in the air.

Forty-seven Stanford freshman track and field athletes are holding daily workouts on the old oval under the direction of Bill Ellington, Card frosh mentor.

Prospects for a strong freshman team are especially promising. Heading the list is Dan Lamont, from Lawrenceville, N. J., who boasts of a prep school mark in the high jump of 5 feet 11 1/2 inches. The team should be exceptionally strong in this department, having a prep school record of 6 feet 1 1/2 inches in the event.

Tom Cordry May Play For Indians In Trojan Series

Tommy Cordry, star forward on the Stanford basketball team, may be able to play in the U. S. C. series tonight and Saturday nights. X-ray pictures taken of Cordry's leg yesterday, revealed that a fracture of the fibula bone suffered last week-end, is not as serious as first believed.

In the meantime, Coach Bunn went ahead with plans to find a substitute for Cordry. The Stanford mentor had Jack Cosgrove working out in Cordry's position yesterday and the former Menlo Junior College star, acquitted himself nobly. Even in the event that Cordry will be able to play, Cosgrove looms as an exceptionable substitute.

GAY ADVENTURERS BY MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER 71

PAYING A DEBT

"Why, what does this mean?" asked the Baroness, as the companion she had just engaged entered the room. The woman walked up to the count and looked at him appealingly. "Jean," she said, "why do you try to pretend that you don't know me?"

He shrank back as she approached. "There," she cried, turning to the Baroness, "is my husband. Five years ago he deserted me, after spending every centime that I had, and I have not seen him until this moment."

The Count de Bellefonte had stared coolly at the tired, worn-looking woman who said that he was her husband. But his assurance slowly changed to apprehension, and then to fear, when he saw that she could not be bullied, and that, moreover, the Kerrs believed her story.

"But it is absurd," he cried. "This woman is mad. I never laid eyes on her until now."

"Then you should have no difficulty in proving that her accusation is false," replied Mr. Kerr. "In the meantime, I'm afraid we must give it some credence. She seems very sure of what she is saying."

The Baroness was listening in delighted horror, and Carlo beamed as he saw the look of fury that came over the Count's face.

"I must ask for a few words with you alone," Mr. Kerr was saying. "This revelation will make a great difference in our plans, as you may guess."

He took the Count by the arm and led him into an adjoining room. For a moment there was the sound of voices, then a door slammed.

When Mr. Kerr returned to his wife, he found her alone in her sitting-room.

"That's settled," he assured her. "He'll never bother us again. His marriage to Constance was illegal, and he is only too glad to promise never to make an effort to see her or to reveal what happened. As far as we're concerned, he doesn't exist. I'll see that the proper steps are taken, and then we'll forget the whole miserable business, and I hope Constance will, too. By the way, where is she?"

"She's with Sheila Allen and her young man. Shall I call her?"

"Yes, painful as the subject is, this will be the best news she has ever heard."

Constance heard her father's story in silence. When he had finished, she threw her arms about his neck. "The end of this terrible nightmare. I can hardly believe it," she cried.

"We'll take you home the moment you say the word," he said. "This has been a terrible experience, and I want to get you away from everything that reminds you of it."

"Dad," she pleaded, "I want to see Harry before I go. I've treated him badly, and I won't have any peace until we've settled things."

He looked at her for a long moment. "Very well," he said finally. "Shall I send for him?"

"Please," she said, and added, "and you won't mind, if—"

"I won't mind anything that makes you happy," he said. "Harry was in his room at the Crescent, waiting for word from Aunt Sophia when the telephone rang. She had promised to call him as soon as she had a talk with her brother, and he picked up the instrument, expecting to hear her voice."

"Mr. Edmonds? . . . This is James Kerr. Can you come to the Hotel des Pyramides at once. Constance wants to see you."

Harry didn't wait to hear any more. He didn't stop for his hat. He didn't wait for the elevator. In less than five minutes he was knocking at the door of the Kerr suite.

Dr. Mac admitted him. "Before you see Constance," he said, "I want to tell you that she has been very ill. Oh, she's almost all right now," he added, at the stricken look in Harry's eyes, "but she met with an accident in London, and was in a hospital for weeks. She'll tell you all about it. But I want you to be prepared to see a different Constance than the one you used to know."

Harry entered Constance's room and saw her standing at the window with Sheila. He stood looking helplessly at them.

"I must go and dress," said Sheila hastily. "Malcolm and I are going dancing tonight. Oh, what a relief to be able to go about with him and not have to worry about scenes afterward."

She made a little moue at Harry and disappeared.

For a tense, interminable moment Harry's gaze sought Constance's face. He was afraid to speak; she stared out of the window, her eyes filled with tears. Then she smiled and held out her hand, without looking at him.

"You make scenes, Harry?" she asked, in a supreme effort to appear casual—to hide the emotions that possessed her.

"I'm afraid I did," he admitted, trying to keep his voice from trembling; "terrible ones, too. I'm glad now that you didn't see them."

"But, Harry, I did something far worse."

He looked at her curiously. "You don't want me to tell you what it was?"

"Not unless you want to tell me."

"I must, because you'd find it out anyway. . . . Harry, I married Jean in New York, just before I sailed."

The room dipped and swirled before Harry's eyes. "Married the Count?" he cried. "You carried Bellefonte?"

He rose and stared down at her in mingled grief and rage. "But wait—please, until I explain."

"What is there to expalin, he cried, and the next moment he was gone."

Dr. Mac and Sheila heard the door bang as he dashed out, and they looked at each other in amazement. "He can't have left already," said Sheila. She hurried to Constance and found her in hysterics. Dr. Mac sensed the situation in a moment.

"I'll try to get him back," he said quietly. "The hot-headed young idiot."

Claus Hadler is considering plans and specifications for a brick block of two stories to cover his entire Eureka corner at Bridge and Main streets.

Ed Mullen, so long and favorably known in Redwood City, has started a messagerie express from Mayfield to San Francisco and return. His Redwood office is located at Wm. Stewart's drug store.

Ada Hughes, Blanch Bean and Mary Dillon, pupils of the advance grammar grade of the public school of Redwood City, each received a grammar school diploma at the recent examination.

Judge Coon, who resides on San Francisco Creek, will soon enter a new business of canning salmon on the San Joaquin river near Antioch. A few men from Menlo are preparing to leave for engagement in the new plant.

The tireless R. G. Rowley gives out that he will prospect Alaskan rivers, and if sufficient inducement appears, open a salmon cannery at the most promising point. Walter Welch will accompany him.

Street Repairs Are Ordered By Menlo Park City Council

were taken by the city council Tuesday for the removal of chukholes and the general repair of a group of streets in the district lying east of the railroad tracks and for the securing of estimates for the scraping of unimproved streets in the district west of the highway.

The trustees appropriated $100 for the purchase of material to be used in repairing parts of Laurel Glenwood, Encinal and Mills streets and various intersections. The labor will be secured from the city employment committee.

City Engineer Bert J. Mehl was directed to secure estimates on the cost of scraping on Hermosa way, Cotton street and San Mateo drive and other unimproved streets that require repairing work to make them passable through the remainder of the winter.

The claim of F. J. Furnival for $37.50, representing damage done to his establishment on Mills street by the falling of a tree during a recent storm, was referred to City Attorney George K. Whitworth for study and report.

The council was notified by the city planning commission of the resignation of Dr. D. B. Blakemore as a member of that body. John Hara was appointed to serve as city poundmaster.

City Engineer Mehl was ordered to prepare an assessment diagram for the cost of opening Live Oak avenue from its present termination to University drive. An appropriation of $5 was voted for street signs to be erected on Creek drive, Stanford Park.

Police Chief Frank Love reported collections of $392.20 in city business licenses during the month of December.

In the absence of City Clerk Fannie I. Kurtz, Councilman E. J. Crane served as clerk pro tem.

Coyotes have become very plentiful and bold during the past three months. A crusade will have to be made against them in order to rid our chicken roosts of these pests.

$30,000,000 in Special Taxes Unfair to You

EQUALITY of taxation was one of the fundamental principles of the American government. The levying of special taxes is a serious departure from that principle.

Special taxes paid by fire insurance companies amount to more than 5 per cent of the premiums paid by policyholders.

Less than a million dollars of the 30 million dollars in special taxes is used by the states for the supervision of fire insurance.
